

One Child One Lamp

Access to electricity is a sensitive issue: children often cannot study in the evening due to the lighting issues and households have “other priorities” than their children’s studies. There are 400 million people without electricity and 600 million with unstable power supply in India.

According to a World Bank study, literacy rate tends to be lower in countries with a un-electrification rate above 80%.

Our Project

With out project we are providing three key solutions by tackling energy access problems:

We teach fundamentals on electronics, renewable energies and sustainability through our hands-on practicals proving an unique learning experience for children.

The children can use their at night for their studies and also improve energy access for their family.

This will also help in creating future solar entrepreneurs.

Thanks to our online platform and our trainings, we impact communities in different areas of India by forming trainers, multipliers and empowering the young generation.

Make an impact

Schools and Universities

If you are city schools you can register for our program and whenever your students makes lamp, we teach one underprivileged student.

NGO & Non-Profits

If you are a Non-Government or Non-Profit Organisation involved in education and/or livelihood programs, we will train your trainers and they can implement programs in the local areas/ centers. We will provide manual and help you establish supply chain.

Businesses

If you are a socially responsible company we can conduct training in your areas. You can also gift your employees LEDsafari lamps made by our entrepreneurs and support our entrepreneurs. We can also organise a fun lamp-making event in your company.

Individuals

You can buy one kit and make a lamp and one kit will go to underprivileged student. Or you can also become a trainer and bring the knowledge in your area.
